Three Generations of Farming & Winemaking in Napa Valley

First Vineyard, Est. 1966 · Neal Family Vineyards, Est. 1998

Mark Neal has walked these vineyards since 1966, first working his family's Rutherford farm beside his parents, Jack and Athene, driving a tractor at nine and making family wines with his dad at fourteen. He bought his own Rutherford vineyard and built his first house in 1980.

Mark continued purchasing land, and in 1990 he found an abandoned farm with hand-dug historic caves on the south ridge of the Howell Mountain AVA. The first vines were planted later that year, to plans he drew himself. He and his crew built the winery, gathered volcanic rock on the estate, dug new caves, and made the barrel racks.

Long before certification carried any marketing value, Mark grew up with organic roots, by way of Athene's mother, his YaYa from Crete, who knew no method of farming other than organic and Biodynamic®. The CCOF sign was hung in 1984 at the family vineyard.

Mark has since transitioned more Napa Valley vineyards to certified organic status than any other grower. Today every Neal Vineyards wine is 100% Estate grown on the Howell Mountain and Rutherford Dust properties, all owned, farmed, made and bottled by the family whose name is on the label.
